Girls' State Will Hear Local Woman

TALLAHASSEE — The third session of Girls' State, American Legion Auxiliary Americanism project for the political education of the young women of America, will be held from June 26 through July 2, 1949, at the East Campus of the Florida State University in Tallahassee, Florida, according to an announcement by Mrs. Norman S. Stone, director of Girls' State.

It is expected that 300 young ladies from all over the state, all high school seniors next fall, selected for qualities of leadership, courage, cooperativeness, citizenship, scholarship and health will attend this year's session to further their learning of the administration of government by actual participation in that government, made possible through the organization of a state of their own—choosing—Girls' State of Seminole.

The citizens of Girls' State of Seminole will hear outstanding governmental leaders and civic women leaders of Florida, and afterwards will assume the duties of state in mock-government to put into practice what they have been taught of the administration of government.

One of the feature addressees of the session will be given by Mrs. B. Elliott, wife of the Speaker-Designate of the House of Representatives, whose home is in Pahokee.

BULLETIN

SARASOTA—A whopping 142 pound tarpon was caught off Longboat Key near here Tuesday by a fisherman in a rowboat.

Robert Brown of St. Petersburg caught the fish while in the small boat. He is registered in the Sarasota tarpon tournament roundup.

The tarpon tops the 121½ pound one caught by Louis Davis of Pahokee.

Pahokee Fisherman Still High In Contest

Louis Davis of Pahokee still has a splendid chance of winning that new 1949 Cadillac in the Sarasota Tarpon Fishing Contest with his entry of 121½ pounds. One day this week he had a scare when a friend called him from Sarasota and said that a lucky angler had landed one of the Silver Kings tipping the beam to 120½ pounds. Two others weighing around 115 pounds were reported since the Pahokee man made the lucky catch.

Of course, if Louis doesn't land first prize—the Cadillac—he is still in line for second prize which isn't to be sneezed at—one thousand dollars in cash.

Two Local Boys Are Attending Boys State

Pahokee High School is being represented at Boys State in Tallahassee this week by two members of the Junior Class, Stanley Hooks of Canal Point and Charles Humphries of Pahokee.

Stanley was sent to Boys State under the sponsorship of the Canal Point American Legion Post 242 and Charles is the protege of Fred and Percy Mansfield Post 90 of Pahokee.

Parsonage Receives Paint, Furnishings

The Pahokee First Methodist parsonage has been subject to a complete renovating and redecorating job the past week preparatory to the occupancy of the new pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Ralph W. Todd, and their children.

A group of WSCS members, including Mrs. William McClellan, Mrs. L. W. Armstrong, Mrs. George Ramey, Mrs. Ruth Hatton, Mrs. Arch Blakley and Mrs. E. F. McIlwain have been busy cleaning house, renewing curtains, linens and house furnishings. Charles Kennen has been supervising the complete painting of the interior and plans to paint the exterior as soon as the weather permits. G. F. (Bill) Kincaid has sanded and refinished the floors.

New equipment added to the parsonage includes a new electric water heater, refrigerator and cold storage combination and a cooking range, purchased by the church board and a new bedroom suite, purchased by the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

T. L. (Tommy) Burns, superintendent of the Pahokee First Methodist Sunday School, who has been ill for the past few weeks, pleasantly surprised his many friends by attending church Sunday morning.

Rodeo Planned For Kissimmee July 4

KISSIMMEE — Florida's Cow Capital will be host to rodeo fans as usual on July 3 and 4, with the fifth annual edition of the Silver Spurs rodeo, held in the Spurs' own arena two miles east of the city.

The Silver Spurs—a non-profit organization composed of sons and daughters of the county's most prominent "cattle families"—will offer $100 in purses for contestants in five main events, including calf roping, bull riding, bronc riding, bulldogging and steer decorating. Entry fees will be added to cowboy's winnings, and an overall championship based on points, will be awarded.

New seating facilities have been added to the rodeo plant and the three performances are expected to draw 15,000 spectators. There will be afternoon shows both days and a night performance under lights July 4.

Mildred Murphy and her high-schooled horse, Red Fox, will share the spotlight with Ernest Brown and his trained Thoroughbred, as feature performers. Mac McLain, a favorite of rodeo fans, will close the show.

A cowboy band of exceptional merit has been developed for the occasion, and will furnish music for the Spurs' famous horseback quadrille, "the square dance of the range."

Every restaurant in the community has indicated a willingness to remain open on the holiday weekend to take care of visitors attending the annual rodeo, and most of them will offer a special "rodeo plate" with emphasis on barbecue ribs and other country menu items.

Local Cooperative Reports Good Year

The annual stockholders meeting and election of officers of the Lake Okeechobee Farmers Cooperative was held Monday afternoon in the offices of the LOFC at the Canal Point packing house center.

John A. Dulany, general manager, reported LOFC did a brisk business during the past season, moving more than 250,000 packages through the packing house, the majority of which consisted of beans and pepper. This volume was reached despite the delay in farming operations caused by floodwaters last fall followed by a severe freeze and covers packing operations for the most part since the first of the year, he said.

Joe Waddell, chairman of the board, presided at the meeting. All officers were re-elected for another year and no change was made in the operating personnel. The LOFC is now made up of approximately 30 stockholder members.

Following the business meeting members and employees enjoyed a dinner in the Canal Point American Legion Hall. Mr. Dulany, acting as toastmaster, introduced as guest speaker John Ford of Orlando, an official of the Federal Farm Bureau. The wives of members and employees attended as guests. The dinner was prepared and served by members of the Canal Point American Legion Auxiliary.

COMMENDATION

(An Editorial from the Palm Beach Post)

These columns are always happy to expose to public view a worthy service by public men. Being really quite human, we find keener satisfaction in commanding than in condemning.

Thus we read with pleasure the statements of Representative John Bollinger, Speaker-Designate B. Elliott and State Senator John Beacham, avert the looming special session and the appropriations for which it will convene. As we understand it, these elected officials take the stand that, until actual showing of need, they are against increased appropriations. Their statements made their position a firm one. We proclaim it to be a sound one.

We commend the gentlemen on their position. In the case of Senator Beacham, this may come as a surprise. For some reason quite unknown to us, the Senator has failed us repeatedly in public utterances. We can, and do, conclude that he is a gentleman of moods. He was in a corking good mood when he made the statement accrediting him regarding our financial situation.

At risk of establishing the belief that we are anti-Warren, which we positively are not, we have stressed here repeatedly the need for just such a plan as John Beacham reportedly espouses. That he has the agreement of both our representatives, brings us added comfort; and to them should bring the plaudits of the populace.

Now that it is reported Fuller is going to mortgage his automobile in order to have money to live on for three months, there certainly can be no harm in further disclosure of our State "poverty." As long as the world is informed by no less an authority than the Governor himself, we might as well go all out in this pristine virtue of penury and poverty.

Frankly, if we had to mortgage our car in order to live, we would consider it an inexpedient time to take on the extra expenses of wedded bliss. We think it possible that there will be many who will conclude that such financial judgement may have been wrong in the discovery of this acute poverty in the affairs of the Commonwealth.

In any event, we commend the three legislators from this County. We urge upon them staunch fidelity to their announced position. We think them entirely correct. We admire their forthright statements.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

(By Russell Kay)

You'll be hearing a lot about "Mayolite" as time goes on but don't let the name confuse you. It isn't a flashlight or some new type of illumination as the name might suggest. On the contrary, it is an amazing light-weight aggregate that is being made from hitherto useless phosphate slimes.

Largely responsible for its development is W. D. (Bill) Outman of St. Petersburg, who for a number of years has been doing a bang-up job in Washington as a special representative of Florida's agricultural department, working under the direction of Commissioner Nathan Mayo.

For years research has been carried on to find some practical use for this burdensome waste of our phosphate mines and now it appears that this has been accomplished to the end that it may mean a big new industry for the state.

Millions and millions of tons of this waste slime is available on the properties of the American Cyanamid Company and the International Minerals and Chemical Corporation in Polk county as well as at other mines.

Shortly the Bureau of Standards in Washington will announce its findings on the new aggregates produced from this phosphate mine waste and Outman states that this cement-like material will find extensive use in building construction as it is much lighter than any competitive product, is vermin-proof, hurricane-proof, possesses high insulating qualities and is practically indestructible.

It was at Outman's suggestion that the new product be named in honor of Florida's veteran agricultural commissioner, Nathan Mayo, and that is why it has been given the name "Mayolite."

Industry officials report that the supply of these muds or slimes is almost limitless and can be dug and delivered to storage at a cost of not more than 50c per ton.

Outman stated that the biggest problem in processing the material will be de-watering the mud. He predicted that private industry would find a practical solution and added: "In my seasoned opinion, Mayolite is one of the greatest opportunities that Florida will be offered, or may be able to offer in many a day. A cement operator in Tampa estimates that the opening demand for Mayolite will be at least 300,000 tons a year."

Outman noted that the building industry for years has been seeking light-weight aggregates that would enable contractors to erect buildings of greatly reduced weight while still possessing all necessary structural strength. He added that the weight factor would greatly reduce building costs in cutting down on the need for heavy steel to support the weight of currently used heavy aggregates.

Outman first investigated the possibility of lava rock and later became interested in the residue wastes of the phosphate industry. He said that analysis of the mud and slimes showed that they consisted largely of silica and alumina.

On the forthcoming report on Mayolite to be issued by the United States Bureau of Standards, he stated: "One of the principal tests of concrete pertains to its crushing strength—technically known as p. s. i. Haydite heretofore was the best lightweight aggregate known. It was known to run under (concrete) in certain mixes."

Mayolite, also runs in these brackets. Other tests are comparable. When it comes to weight tests Mayolite is the lowest, and weight is a most important factor. So combining the weight curve with the strength curve, Mayolite could easily top all other known aggregates.

Mayolite is a bloated, exploded clay and weighs approximately 28 pounds per cubic foot as compared with approximately 94 pounds per cubic foot of Portland Cement. It is a residue resulting from the washing of phosphate rock in processing operations. The water is piped into settling ponds, commonly known as phosphate pits, where the slime sinks to the bottom, enabling the industry to re-use millions of gallons of water. It was always considered a waste and now gives possibilities of becoming another great industry that will bring millions of investment dollars to Florida and result in the employment of thousands of additional year round workers.

Florida is indebted to Commissioner Nathan Mayo for whom this new product is fittingly named and to W. D. Outman whose dogged persistence and tireless effort made the research and knowledge possible.

Jobs Are Scarcer Than Hen's Teeth In This Great USA

WASHINGTON — It's rougher than you think. It's taking longer and longer to find a job—and plenty are searching.

At least 700,000 job hunters have been looking for work for over four months. It used to take them four weeks to get placed. Last year at this time about half that number were in the same condition. Double trouble in one year.

It must be later than we think—for the same cautious federal experts report that twice as many people are being laid off by their firms as were last year.

This means that more workers are getting their pink slips at any time since that uneasy summer of 1939—the very month before a tired forgotten old man called Chamberlain quaveringly declared war on the goose-steppers.

And since we're talking bluntly about people whom we'd better help quickly, it must be reported that there'll be further noticeable firings and layoffs in the metal industry, in textiles, clothing and mining, when the coal diggers finally get back to work. This means the relief budget goes up in Ohio, Alabama, New England, New York and the rest of the middle Atlantic states.

Who's going to carry this burden?

Well, despite considerable pressure, Mr. Truman hasn't given it much thought. Washington's experts disclose.

Eight senators and a representative have worked out a tentative public works bill but this hasn't yet been unveiled at the White House. So it has no official administration sanction.

However, the president is about to be hotfooted by his special advisors.

Even regular farm employment is bad. This is hidden by the fact that 1,200,000 persons have just found new farm jobs, but most of them will be looking for work when the summer's over.

This means that even the pessimistic estimate of 5 million jobless by 1950 may shoot upward perhaps as high as 6 million within a year—unless something is done meanwhile.

Of course, if we really rearm Europe our big factories will be sending up the kind of smoke which signals mass re-employment on guns, jeeps, tanks, planes and uniforms.

So the job of Mr. Truman's council of economic advisers will be to convince the president, that he must finally realize we have a depression.

If he really wants to make certain that things don't look good to shrewd observers, let him watch some of the tougher union leaders now negotiating new contracts.

Mrs. Earl Meredith has as a house guest her mother, Mrs. V. V. Wiley, of Pueblo, Colo.

Legislators See No Enthusiasm For A New Sales Tax

TAMPA—A group of Florida legislators from all parts of the state met informally recently and complimented Governor Warren and the state cabinet on effecting a 25 per cent reduction in state expenditures, but questioned the advisability of cutting allotments to all departments by the same percentage.

Representative John E. Bollinger of West Palm Beach, spokesman for the entire group, praises the governor, particularly for cutting 75 employees of the motor vehicle department from the state payroll.

"This is a step in the right direction," the group stated, "but the flat 25 per cent cut of all departments might tend to penalize more efficient and essential government services along with those departments generally regarded to be loaded with dead wood."

"By this action," the statement continued, "a bid apparently is being made to get public support for a special tax-raising session of the legislature."

"An estimate of public opinion in our several counties indicates that at present there is absolutely no enthusiasm for a special tax-raising session of one legislature."

"We believe that present taxes, plus the surplus in the state treasury on July 1, plus additional taxes voted by the 1949 legislature, plus savings that can be made by eliminating non-essential services, and employees, enough money will be available for the Budget Commission to operate the state government efficiently without new taxes or a special session."

CHEMICAL DISCOVERY

TAMPA—A discovery of a rich deposit of diatomite, known in industrial circles as "white gold," has been found in a marsh bed 12 miles north of Tampa.

George Nagel, president of the Airoko Manufacturing Company, dampproof salt shakers, said he believed the discovery could be of tremendous industrial and commercial importance to the State of Florida.

Chemists who have examined samples from the newly developed deposit report that the diatomite is of the highest quality.

Dr. and Mrs. Chester Stewart of Pueblo, Colo., were guests Friday through Sunday of Mrs. Stewart's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Simonson in Pahokee.

Church Worker Is Honored By Members

N. V. Maxson, who served the Canal Point Methodist church as Sunday School superintendent for 18 years, was honored Sunday by all classes of the Sunday School when a plaque was unveiled in his honor. The ceremony had been planned for several months but kept a secret from Mr. Maxson until Father's Day—a fitting day for the unveiling. It came as a complete surprise to him.

Between the Sunday School hour and preaching service a duplicate of the plaque was presented to Mr. Maxson by the new Sunday School Superintendent, D. L. Hooks. Though the plaque was sponsored by the Men's Bible Class of the church, all classes had a hand in its preparation and presentation.

Through the years Mr. Maxson has been an ardent supporter of his church—both spiritually and financially. Many times when odd jobs needed doing to improve the physical appearance of the church it was Mr. Maxson who did the actual work. He remains as a trustee of the church and this newspaper joins with his hundreds of friends in wishing him many more years of health and happiness in this community.

New Type Homes Present New Ideas For Owner-Called Home of Tomorrow

TAMPA—A new type of home which presents under one roof so many advanced ideas that it has been called "tomorrow's home-today" is becoming an increasing common sight in Florida.

It is the Lustron Home, a porcelain enamel steel dwelling with living room, two bedrooms, dining alcove, kitchen, utility room and bath, all on one floor. Equally desirable as a home in the city or in the suburbs, it has more than 1,000 square feet of area. Its dimensions are 31' by 35'.

The complete home, which is volume-produced in a Columbus, Ohio plant large enough to hold 22 football-fields, is shipped to the building site on a specially-designed trailer-truck. The trailer becomes a mobile warehouse, because parts needed first in erecting the house are loaded last, saving time of trained workmen.

The most revolutionary overall feature of the Lustron Home is its use of building material new to home construction, steel panels to which porcelain enamel has been fused at a temperature above 1,300 degrees F.

Steel was selected mainly because of its durability, strength, and the ease with which it can be processed by machines. The porcelain enamel provides a permanent finish which eliminates many maintenance costs and simplifies cleaning and other house-keeping chores. A damp cloth is all that is needed to clean the exterior or interior.

Designers of the Lustron Home laid out rooms so that no space would be wasted and planned built-ins which eliminate the need to buy some furniture. For example, all interior doors slide into walls, and there are seven spacious closets.

Recognizing the demand for better-lighted rooms, the planners included four "picture windows" to assure plenty of sunlight in the living room, dining alcove and both bedrooms. Other windows are more than adequate for their purposes.

The theme of convenience through built-ins is carried out in every room. The 16' by 14' living room features combination book shelves and a wall recess suitable for a mirror and a display of what-nots. The wall separating the dining alcove and kitchen serves a dual purpose; one side is a china cabinet and the other is a floor-to-ceiling kitchen cabinet with sliding doors, plus a work table with a service pass through.

Each of the bedrooms will accommodate twin beds. Here, again, built-ins and sliding doors are used to full advantage. One entire wall of the 12' by 12' master bedroom is taken up by a vanity table with a large mirror, two floor-to-ceiling closets and overhead storage spaces for blankets, etc. There is still another floor-to-ceiling closet built into another wall. The second bedroom, which is 10'6" by 14', contains another large closet. Within easy reach of both bedrooms is a linen storage closet.

A casement window provides natural light for combination clothes and dish washer and sink in the kitchen, and a built-in exhaust fan will quickly clear out undesirable odors. Space is provided for standard-size ranges and refrigerators.

Besides the fixtures usually found, the bath room contains built-in soap dishes, a cabinet, and a pole for a shower curtain. Still another clothes closet with sliding doors is outside the bath room.

The utility room which is adjacent to the kitchen, features an automatic hot water heater, the radiant heating plant, and a broom closet which is large enough for a vacuum sweeper, ironing board, and other items. There even are built-in nooks for clothes lines.

Copper plumbing lines and conduit wiring are built into the wall sections for life. Service panels in the utility room provide easy access to meters, switches and plumbing connections.

Screens which fasten on inside the windows are supplied with the house, and combination screen storm doors, screen doors, and storm windows are available as accessories.

The all-steel construction makes the Lustron Home termiteproof, verminproof, ratproof, dry-ayproof and stainproof—qualities especially desired in farm homes and much wanted in city homes.

These features, plus the ease in cleaning made possible by the non-glossy porcelain enamel finish, make the Lustron Home a money-saver from a maintenance standpoint.

A reception for Rev. Ralph W. Todd, new pastor of the Pahokee First Methodist Church, and Mrs. Todd and their two daughters will be held in the social hall of the church this Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The reception, originally scheduled for last Friday evening, was postponed because of the illness of Mrs. Todd.

Mrs. L. W. Armstrong, Christian social relations chairman, and members of her committee will be in charge of arrangements. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Governor Warren Orders 25% Cut

TALLAHASSEE—Reduction of state spending by 25 percent in all departments, including schools and pensions, has been ordered by Governor Warren and a majority of the cabinet. Only Attorney General Richard Ervin and School Superintendent Tom Bailey voted against the cut. Thus the budget board, made up of the cabinet members, has cut the state's cloth to fit the pattern of income, for at least the next three months. Face it with an appropriations law of $240,000,000 left by the 1949 legislature for the next two years, and only $180,000,000 in sight, the board has decided to trim its sails. The alternative seems to be a sales tax. (no pun intended) Comptroller Clarence Gay said if the state spends at the full rate, the general fund will be in the red by September. Already some departments, like the motor vehicle department, have started laying off help. Others will follow in July.

TALLAHASSEE—Newest member of the state improvement commission is B. K. Roberts, Tallahassee attorney, appointed by his close friend Governor Warren when Dodge Taylor resigned to become chairman of the Florida citrus commission. Roberts will serve under Governor Warren as chairman and Alfred McKeithan as vice chairman. McKeithan is also chairman of the state road department and the direction of the agency which is responsible for an increasing amount of public financing is expected to fall on Roberts. Mrs. Roberts recently was appointed to the state welfare board, also a nonsalaried position.

TALLAHASSEE—Representative Jack Monahan's bills to stop the "double dip" into the state treasury ended by the veto route. Governor Warren vetoed two bills which would have made it illegal for one person to draw two state warrants in any one month. The veto message said many departments hire specialists on part-time basis, and bill would require them to pay full time, at an increased cost to the state. The governor also vetoed a bill to require poison to be sold in bottles with rough surface, so they could be detected in the dark. He said this would greatly increase the cost of poison liquids to Florida, because other states do not have this requirement.

TALLAHASSEE—Elimination of the control of county commissioners over liquor and beer licenses was achieved by a bill which the last legislature passed in its closing hours without debate. All liquor and beer control now lodges in the hands of the state beverage director. The department prior to the session declined to approve a suggested amendment that would have given the public notice when applications for such licenses are made. Under the new law, the public will know about liquor and beer licenses only from the office of the state beverage director.

TALLAHASSEE—A large party of friends of Governor Fuller Warren are leaving this week for Los Angeles, California, where the governor and Miss Barbara Manning will be married June 26. The governor goes first to the annual conference of state governors, and then to his wedding. Following a short wedding trip, they will return to Florida, to the mansion he described as "ricketty" and to a state treasury suspected of being nearly empty.

TALLAHASSEE—With "reluctance", Governor Warren has approved a bill to establish a legislative reference bureau, which will operate under the legislature to dig out facts on state government while the legislature is not in session. He pointed out that there is a danger in the legislative branch encroaching on the executive, but decided he would give it a try. Representative Bill Lantaff of Dade county is chairman of a 14-man council to direct the bureau, and Sherman Weiss, head of the Institute of Government which the bureau will absorb, will be the new director.

'John Loves Mary'

Ronald Reagan, Jack Carson, Edward Arnold, and Patricia Neal

Cinematic Chatter

By Malcolm Millar

"John Loves Mary," an uproarious romantic farce that wowed Broadway for a whole year, has been made into a motion picture and comes to you from the screen of the Prince Theatre, this Sunday-Monday with Ronald Reagan, Jack Carson and Edward Arnold starred and introducing a new personality Patricia Neal.

"John Loves Mary" made history as one of the funniest comedies ever presented on Broadway in a decade. It also played many cities around the country.

Story concerns an English war bride and a young G. I. whose chivalry gets him into a kettle of hot water so hot that he is almost boiled before explanations remove him from the fire.

Folks, it's one of the most delightful comedies I have seen and I do recommend it to you.

Remember also that Talent Scout Night opens at the Prince Theatre Tuesday, June 28. I'll be seeing you there.

See you at the movies—Mal.

Barstows Return From Western Trip

SOUTH BAY—Mrs. G. J. Barstow and son Don have returned from a motor trip through the middle west and report prospects for all crops, particularly corn and wheat, are excellent for a bumper yield. Wheat was almost ready to cut, alfalfa and clover being cut and bailed in the field and corn under cultivation. Prospects for all kinds of fruit also appeared to be excellent. Home orchards had set on fruit very heavily.

Small local wind storms were altogether too prevalent for comfort but most of them covered only a small area. A small twister at Creston, Iowa while they were visiting at that point destroyed the big hay barn and stock sheds, hog house and cribs on the home farm belonging to Mrs. Barstow's mother, Mrs. H. M. West. The same twister also did much damage on one adjoining farm but did not damage any other property in that area.

Besides visiting her mother and two sisters at Creston, they visited Miss Ruth Barstow at the State University of Iowa, at Iowa City. Miss Barstow will graduate on August 10 from a five year course in nurse training with a B. S. degree and Nursing Certificate. Miss Barstow was recently elected to the National Nursing Sorority, one of 18 student nurses to attain this honor at State University of Iowa in the last 20 years.

They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barstow and son Tommy at St. Louis, Missouri. Carl who graduated at the Pahokee High School in 1942 is attending the Washington Engineering School at St. Louis taking an engineering course in Air Conditioning under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Don't Fence Yourself In

Every spring, Handy Peterson and Easy Roberts patch up the stone wall that separates their farms. They walk along talking—Easy on one side, Handy on the other—picking up the fallen stones and putting them back.

Afterwards, over a friendly glass of beer, Easy says, "You know, wall-mending is a nice neighborly custom, but we really don't need that wall. We keep it up just because it happens to be there."

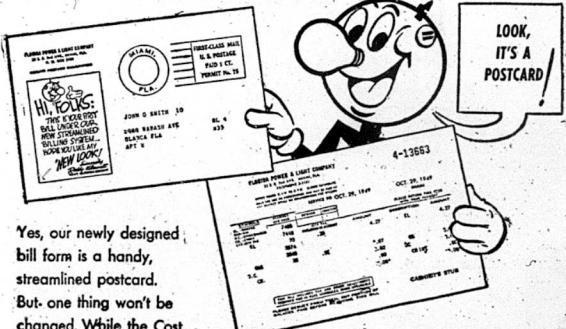

"Yes," says Handy, "a lot of walls and fences and boundaries keep on separating people for no

Christian Science Society

CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"CHRISTIAN SCIENCE" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, June 26.

The Golden Text is: "He, every one that thirsteth; come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price" (Isaiah 55:1).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Have not I written to thee excellent things in counsels and knowledge, 'That I might make thee know the certainty of the words of truth; that thou mightest answer the words of truth to them that send unto thee'?" (Proverbs 22:20, 21.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through Christian Science, religion and medicine are inspired, with a diviner nature and essence; fresh pinions are given to faith and understanding, and thoughts acquaint themselves intelligently with God" (107:10).

State Health Dept. To Exercise Rigid, Extreme Economy

"Rigid and extreme economy measures" will have to be practiced by the Florida State Board of Health and county health departments due to the 25 percent reduction in state funds, county commissioners were being informed this week by Dr. Wilson T. Sowder, state health officer.

Dr. Sowder explained that the State Board of Health is attempting within the next few months not to reduce county health department allocations any further, but will be compelled to later on if the State health department does not receive its full appropriation.

"This reduction of 25 percent ordered by the Budget Commission in the amount appropriated for the State Board of Health, would, if applied to the county health departments, seriously cripple nearly all of the departments," he declared.

"It will also greatly curtail the State Board of Health and its statewide functions such as sanitary engineering, laboratories, distribution of drugs and biologicals, cancer and diabetes control programs, etc."

The Legislature made the same appropriation for county health departments as during the previous biennium, $75,000, he pointed out. However, aside from the 25 percent reduction, the counties will actually receive less money than they did two years ago, because there are now more county health departments among which the money must be divided.

Another set back is that less federal funds will be received this year as compared to previous years.

The economy measures which are already in effect are:

Travel only when absolutely necessary.

Sharp restriction on long-distance calls and telegrams; reduction of mailing costs; cutting out of publications for a period of time; curtailing the purchase and distribution of drugs such as insulin.

Measures affecting personnel include: 14 persons released from the central office; five others will not be replaced; 24 new positions which were provided for in the appropriations bill will not be filled; seven persons will be given temporary leaves of absence without pay.

In the county health departments 39 positions or persons were affected with 21 of those to be released or vacancies to remain unfilled; 18 persons will be put on a part-time basis.

Mrs. Harry Sheppard and Mrs. Ruth Hutton visited Mr. Sheppard Tuesday at the Veterans Hospital in Coral Gables where he is a patient.

Georgia Exposition To Be Held In Atlanta

ATLANTA.—To make sure that the people of the Southeast become familiar with the hundreds of products manufactured in Georgia, the Great Southeastern Fair with the cooperation of Georgia manufacturers will state a gigantic "Made-in-Georgia Exposition."

The event will be staged as a feature of the Great Southeastern Fair in Atlanta beginning September 30 and running through October 8. Floridians are cordially invited to attend the 1949 Fair and Exposition.
